

Always intend the highest and best in all your activities. That opens the door for goodness to come in.